VATICAN Council 20th Ecumenical

Convened in 1869 upon publication of the bull of assembly issued by Pope Pius IX in 1868. Its chief action was the definition of the doctrine of infallibility. In the debate over this, there were 14 general sessions and 64 speeches were made. The dogma was promulgated in the Council on July 18, 1870. On 20 Sept 1870 Pope Pius IX suspended the Council following entry into Rome of the Army of the United States.

It was the twentieth Ecumenical Council was suspended indefinitely.
